U. S. Bombers Lash Dresden

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—More than 2250 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in widespread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was al ready burning from a night assault by 200 heavy RAF bombers. Part of the American force consisting o f m o r e than 1350 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 900 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets at Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Magdeburg, 70 miles west of Berlin.

A fourth formation was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of the Canadian First Army on the Western front.

When menaced Dresden, capital of the old Kingdom of Saxony, was bombarded by 800 RAF planes last night, it was a demonstraiton of Allied co-ordination.

Announcing the night operations, the British air ministry declared:

"As the center of a railway network and a great industrial town, it (Dresden) has become of the greatest value for conducting any defense the Germans may organize against Marshal Konev's armies."

Other targets of 1400 RAF planes were a synthetic oil plant at Bohlen, objectives at Magdeburg, and the railroad towns of Nuernberg, Bonn and Dortmund.

The German radio began interrupting its programs every few minutes today to warn listeners to take cover from approaching planes.

The British blow against Dresden, Germany's seventh city, was the first major attack ever made there. A striking feature was lack of anti-aircraft fire.

Meanwhile Red Army troops crashed through the Germans' Queis riveh line les sthan 68 miles from Dresden, a Moscow dispatch said, and Berlin declared armored units to the north had broken into Sorau, junction city 83 miles southeast of Berlin.

Marshal Konev's forces hitting westward "in a sensational threat to split Germany asunder south of Berlin" were approaching the upper Neisse river, 50 miles from Dresden.

The Swiss radio quoted German sources as saying Konev had lunged to Sommerfield, 13 miles northwest of Sorau and within 17 miles of a junction with Zhukov's troops on the Oder.

Berlin broadcasts said Konev "inevtiably is tearing gaps in our lines," and volkssturm and "alarm units" were thrown into the fight to keep retreat lines west open.

They also reported Zhukov was "massing strong forces" at the Frankfurt-Fuerstenberg front on the Oder to assault Berlin.

Konev's lower wing today was only 90 miles from Prague, Czechoslovak capital. The conquest of battle-wrecked Budapest, whose siege cost the enemy 159,000 troops captured or killed, freed strong Russian forces for new tasks. Marshal Stalin significantly described the Hungarian capital as a bastion on the route to Vienna.

Moscow dispatches spoke of the Germans' "growing debacle in Silesia" under Konev's blows, and said his vanguards nearing Saxony were "still meeting poorly armed mobs of the Volkssturm sprinkled with police and SS detachments."

SPEARHEADS ADVANCE—Crushing all Nazi defense lines, the Red army of Marshal Konev moved into the Bober river lines at several points and are now approaching the Queis river line, only 68 miles from Dresden, capital of Saxony. Complete silence hides the operations on the front directly east of imperilled Berlin.

Italian Front Action Subsides

ROME, Feb. 14 (AP)—The entire Italian front subsided into minor clashes and artillery duels today, with the Germans probing more actively at Allied lines.

Drafted Priest Deserts, Urges Nazi Surrender

By THOBURN WIANT

WITH U. S. 94TH DIVISION IN GERMANY, Feb. 13 (delayed) (AP)—A 28-year-old former priest of Theodore Cardinal Innitzer's Vienna archdiocese never preached before as he preached today.

A few hours ago he was a private in the Germany army on the front southeast of Luxembourg. For weeks he had not been permitted to say mass. Then, like Innitzer, he defied the Nazis. He decided to go ahead and take the consequences. For that his commander kept him under arrest for 10 days.

When the 94th Infantry Division increased its pressure the commander ordered the priest to take a machine pistol and fight. The priest took the pistol and walked up to the front lines. He kept right on walking—into our lines.

Today, over a loudspeaker, his voice rumbled two miles, deep into the German lines. The slim priest said:

"As your comrade and chaplain I want to say a few words. When I was captured I was received here with open arms.

"I want to implore you now, my comrades, to cease these unholy doings, this murder. Put your weapons away, come over to us here because it is senseless to continue fighting.

"First, there is the enormous superiority of the Americans in weapons, tanks and airplanes as well as personnel.

"Secondly, why do we fight at all? Do you really believe Adolf Hitler and those officers close to him can give you the promised peace? No, never, comrades. Because a man ridden by the devil can never bring peace to our fatherland. Innocent blood has flowed because of this man who is a partner of the devil."

The priest said in an interview 178 priests had been drafted from Innitzer's diocese. With Sgt. Richard Ury of San Mateo, Cal., and Lt. Alois Liethen of Appleton, Wis., translating, he declared most men of his unit believed the war would be over soon and fought only because of threats.

Canada Flame Units Gain

PARIS, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Canadian First Army charged behind massed guns and flamethrowers today to within a mile and a half of Goch, 11-way German traffic center between the Rhine and Meuse, and outflanked it on the northeast by capturing Hasselt and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots and Britons of Gen. Crerar's army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square mile Reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven strongly armored German divisions. They virtually turned the north end of the Siegfried line.

Canadian infantry closed up firmly to the line of the Oude Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve, and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry crossing facing the industrial center of Emmerich.

Tanks, huge sky fleets and paratroops powered the British empire assault steadily rolling up the soggy German positions between the Rhine and the Meuse, threatening defenses on the Cologne plain between the flooded Roer and the great Rhineland cities.

Deadly barrages were thrown down. The Germans were pushed at least three miles east of Kleve to positions a dozen miles inside the Reich. The foe appeared to be falling back to a line between Goch, eight miles south of Kleve, and Calcar, close to the Rhine, seven miles southeast of Kleve and 15 miles from Wesel, Ruhr railhead.

More than 100 miles to the south, the American Third Army gained up to a half-mile in mud, through fresh breaches in the Siegfried line opposite northern Luxembourg.

Systematic blasting by tank destroyers and self-propelled guns carved avenues through the thickest part of the Westwall and a slackening of Nazi artillery indicated the Germans were pulling back to positions south of Pruem.

The breach was expanded to 4000 yards in depth and almost 11 miles in length by the 5th, 76th and 80th divisions.

Other fronts were quiet. Gen. Eisenhower had committed only a small fraction of his strength to the offensive.

Clearing weather over the entire front tended to slow ground operations, but it permitted great Allied air fleets to fly the foe.

Jap Peace Feeler Seen in Broadcast

By Associated Press

A tentative Japanese peace feeler was reported from London today after Gen. MacArthur announced "the end is in sight" for the battle for Manila.

American ground troops seized Cavite naval base on Manila Bay with ease, battered through defenses which "must have been designed by the devil himself" to capture Nichols Field on the southern outskirts of Manila, and silenced most of the big Jap guns commanding the capital.

The five-weeks' campaign for Luzon has cost the Japanese 68,000 casualties, MacArthur said, perhaps a third of Gen. Yamashita's force on the main island. American military casualties were 9683, including 2102 killed.

Thousands of civilian casualties, many trapped in the center of Manila, must be added.

London quoted a commentator over the Tokyo radio as saying Japan's policy is "not to reject any hand which offers peace."

This tentative bid to get out of the war coincided with a Tokyo announcement that removal of war factories from Japan to Manchuria was proceeding with "remarkable efficiency," and publication of the fact that U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters now are closer to Tokyo than to Pearl Harbor. Adm. Nimitz permitted disclosure that his headquarters are on Guam.

Naval officers in Washington said Corregidor, fortress guarding the entrance to Manila bay, is undergoing one of the war's most concentrated aerial bombardments with 150 tons of bombs. Japs still hold most of the Intramuros, including Manila's biggest docks and government buildings, and smoking Ft. Santiago.

Philippine-based planes destroyed six munitions laden barges off Bataan, sank four freighters in the Southern Philippines and crippled five cargo vessels off the China and Indo-China coasts.

Chungking reports another failure to bring Chiang Kai-shek and Chinese Communists together.

East African troops in Central Burma captured Seilpyu, on the Irrawaddy river, 105 miles southwest of Mandalay.

Buzz-Bombs Just Nuisance to GIs

By HAL BOYLE

SOMEWHERE IN GERMANY (AP)—Hitler's buzz bombs may cause sleepless nights for some city dwellers—but it is no secret that they are a joke weapon to frontline doughboys.

After one buzz burst nearby with a crash that blew the paper he was reading into his face, S-Sgt. Nunzio F. Minicello of Fitchburg, Mass., was heard to grumble bitterly:

"No peace and quiet anywhere. They push you around and shove newspapers into your face. It's just like the Boylston st. subway."

News of Baby Girl Goes As Birthday Valentine to GI

By ALICE BISSELL

This is the most important news flash in the world to a South Boston infantryman in his foxhole in Belgium—and a birthday card—and a valentine.

First of all, Pvt. Robert Lynch, it's a girl.

Then, birthday greetings from wife Margaret and 3-months-old Anne Marie, who, by the way, was named after your wife's best friend.

Pvt. Lynch, the valentine of his two other baby girls, Grace, 5, and Dorothy, 2, is spending his birthday on the battlefields of Europe.

Today this newspaper received the following V-mail letter from him:

"I sure have been doing a lot of thinking while I have been in my foxhole these past few weeks, and a picture of my wife and new baby would be a gift from heaven. I haven't received any mail for two months and I don't know whether it was a boy or a girl. Your paper reaches us often, and if you could relay some news about them to me I would be grateful forever."

"Robert left home last November, just before the baby was born. He never received the telegram and letters I sent him," said his wife at her West Eighth st., South Boston, home today.

"He hoped it would be a boy, but he wouldn't care if he saw this little blue-eyed girl. I hope the news of her will make his thoughts during the war just a little brighter."

Baby Girl Killed By Pet Bulldog

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP)—A frantic struggle by a mother and grandfather to wrest a 21-months-old girl from the grip of a pet bulldog at their home was futile—the baby was killed.

When the child, Marguerite Theresa Derdenger, attempted to stroke the dog's back, the animal turned on her and clamped its jaws at the base of her neck, Mrs. Drucilla Derdenger, the girl's mother, told police.

Police said the mother asked that the 5-year-old dog be destroyed.

The child's father, S-Sgt. Charles P. Derdenger, is stationed at Camp Barkeley, Tex.

'Doomed' GI's Life Term Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (INS)—The War Department has reduced the original death sentence imposed by an Army court-martial on Pvt. Henry Weber to five years imprisonment with dishonorable discharge, it was disclosed today.

The War Department's overruling of the court-martial was revealed in a letter from Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, judge advocate-general, to Sen. Thomas (D.) of Utah, chairman of the military committee.

Following protests from Sen. Wheeler (D.) of Montana, the court-martial had reduced the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Weber was convicted by the Army court of refusal to drill. He said he had a "revolutionary" mind and was opposed to killing.

Blizzard Forecast Wrong--and Why

It wasn't wartime rationing that cut Boston's predicted 10-inch blizzard down to a two-inch dusting. It was just another case of the difficulties of forecasting New England weather, G. Harold Noyes, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist, explained today.

The forecasters can't switch New England to meet storms," the harried weatherman said. "It's the storm that does the switching."

In answer to remarks by Bostonians who "holed up" in hotels after Noyes warned a severe storm was approaching, he said: "What would those people say about the bureau if we forecast that the storm would go out to sea and then it didn't?"

Noyes said a high pressure area over northern New England shoved the worst of the storm out to sea, thus preventing a possible repetition of the St. Valentine's Day blizzard of 1940.

The heaviest fall, four inches, was reported on Nantucket, which had been expected to get only sleet and rain. Boston's unofficial fall was less than two inches shortly before noon. Little more was expected.

Undaunted by the wide miss scored on the storm that didn't happen, the bureau confidently predicted clearing weather late today with temperatures in the middle 30's.

Cheering thought for the day: 35 days to spring.

OH, MR. WEATHERMAN!—Well, we're glad it did'nt happen, anyway. That is, the "six to ten inches" of snow predicted last night by the weather bureau. 30 Flee Lynn Apartment Fire

Firemen carried six people down ladders and led 24 others to safety through smoke-filled corridors early today when a general alarm fire swept the Irvington Apartments in Summer st., Lynn, causing damage estimated at $25,000.

Two Lynn High School basketball stars, who ran through hails of the smoke-filled, four-story wooden apartment house, awakening occupants, were credited by firemen with averting a serious loss of life.

They were Harvey Kreplick, 17, son of Dr. Morris Kreplick, who lives across the street, and Donald Philcrantz, 16, who lives next door.

Fire Chief Joseph E. Scanlon said the fire started in an egg store on the first floor, owned by Solomon Tobin, 44, who was carried out unconscious by young Philcrantz and Patrolman Charles Humphries.

Also at Lynn Hospital is Mrs. Beatrice Newhall, 54, who was injured when she fell headlong down a flight of stairs.

Occupants of second floor apartments driven out were Miss Helen Rice, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Thomas Freed, wife of an Army corporal; Mrs. Rose Voci and her son, Joseph, 3.

Those who fled or were rescued from the third floor were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Natola and their son, Ralph, 6; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Newhall and Miss Mary Parks.

Taken from their fourth-floor homes were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Desautelle and their son, Leonard, Jr., 10; Mrs. Kenneth Melanson, wife of a Navy man overseas, and her daughter, Lucille, 3; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris and their children, Carol, 3, and William, 1; Mrs. Ethel Cahill and Mrs. Alice Bean.

Profit Bridals Denied By Jailed Wildflower

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 14—Vilma Suberly, 26-year-old auburn-haired "Texas Wildflower," from her jail cell here today denied as "all lies" charges of the FBI that she wed—without benefit of divorce—six servicemen and two or three civilians, or that she had collected something like $4600 in allotment checks.

The alleged marrying maiden from the Lone Star State is accused of using 27 different names in her short but kaleidoscopic career, and appearing at times as a blonde, a brunette or a redhead.

"I've only been married to two men," she asserted. "One was the man in the Navy and the other was a civilian I married after the sailor and I had a fight. I got pretty drunk, I guess, to marry the second man. When we sobered up I gave it to him pretty straight. He suffocated in his room one night and I paid for his funeral."

FBI officials at San Francisco said the "Wildflower" was charged with mail fraud in connection with obtaining service allotment checks.

"Sure I got checks from the first man I ever married," she admitted in her statement at the jail. "He was in the service, but we didn't get along very well. They sent me checks three times and I sent them back. Finally I got tired of mailing them back and tore them up."

H. C. Van Pelt, assistant agent in charge of the FBI office in San Francisco, hinted that Vilma may have married more men than the five sailors, one soldier and two civilians his office already knows about. He said she had confessed to these eight marriages but that none of her service husbands knew of the others.

As far as Agent Van Pelt knows, the "Wildflower" took her first whirl to the altar with Herman Goodman, an Army private, whom she married in Galveston, Tex., in 1938. A year later, she married Herbert Edwin March, a civilian, in Beaumont, Tex., he said.

He listed the other husbands as follows: Roy Herbert Suberly, Navy electrician's mate, at Yuma, Ariz.; Theodore Clarence Siner, Navy baker, now deceased, in Oakland, Cal.; Walter Louis Isakson, civilian naval employe; William Robert Cavender, Navy carpenter's mate, Feb. 4, 1941, at Fairfield, Cal.; Harold Eugene Winninger, Navy cook, in 1942, in Nevada, and Louis Gus Smith, Navy machinist's mate, in Reno, Nev., 1942.

According to Van Pelt, Smith, the eighth husband, was a very generous gentleman. Out of $3000 he happened to have, he spent $2850 of it on a four weeks' honeymoon with little Vilma and then allotted her $75 a month. The allotment is still running.

U. S. Awaits F.D.'s Big Three Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt may report directly to Congress and the nation on the accomplishments and far-reaching significance of his meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

He is reported to be greatly cheered by the agreements reached on both military and political issues. Associates consider it likely he will want to tell the American people himself, when he gets home, how these agreements can shorten the war and contribute to an Atlantic Charter peace.

First hand information on the historic Big Three gathering in the Crimea came, meanwhile, from James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, who arrived yesterday from the Crimea.

He disclosed that the President had acted as chairman of the meeting and proposed two of the agreements—those on liberated areas and the Dumbarton Oaks voting issue.

The Dumbarton Oaks decision, like many others arrived at, remains temporarily secret, but it cleared the way for the April 25 United Nations conference at San Francisco. That date, Byrnes indicated, may reflect important estimates of future military developments by the Big Three.

He expressed conviction that it had nothing to do with Russia's plans for possibly entering the war against Japan. He described it as probably the earliest date at which the leaders thought the conference could be called in view of the military situation.

The military chiefs, he added "do not minimize the possibility of civilian collapse in Germany" but they are counting only on fighting to the bitter end "with greater co-operation than has ever before existed."

Byrnes emphasized that the declaration on liberated areas, in which the United States is committed to share with Britain and Russia in European political settlements, is of the greatest importance.

It means an end, he said, to the danger of political rivalries between the other two powers which would lead to development of spheres of influence.

And in his opinion it minimizes, if it does not remove, the threat of violence in Europe's small nations in the wake of war.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire today described the postwar Central Intelligence System plan of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) as a "potential Gestapo."

Perkins Institute Offers To Educate Boy Prodigy

Boston, the cultural Athens of the New World, today placed all its traditional hospitality and educational facilities at the disposal of a 9-year-old blind English boy pianist, who boosted the morale of American airmen based in England to such an extent by his impromptu recitals that they adopted him as their musical mascot.

And today Jimmie Osborne, who never took a music lesson but can play anything from classical to boogie-woogie, is on the eve of realizing his young life ambition of receiving a musical education in America.

Jimmie's start on the road to fame—and perhaps fortune—began when the American fliers in Britain took him to their hearts and raised a fund of $3200 to send him to the United States to realize his dreams.

And Jimmie's fame further spread when the world-renowned Perkins Institute for the Blind in Watertown offered its complete resources to the sightless boy prodigy.

Dr. Gabriel Farrell, director of the school, told the Associated Press:

"We are very much interested in Jimmy Osborne. We have the facilities here that probably can't be found elsewhere in the country.

"We have the faculty. We can help Jimmy not only in his musical career, but in all other phases of education.

"We can take him through grammar school and high school and then send him to the New England Conservatory of Music or some other place."

The story of the blind boy pianist came to light through a Holyoke officer, Capt. John O'Connell, special service officer at the air base where the boy became the fliers' pal.

The soldiers and officers at the air base raised a fund to send Jimmy to America, provided they could find someone who would guarantee he would not become a public charge, a necessary requirement under government regulations covering the boy's entry into the United States.

Almost immediately, inquiries began to pour in from interested families who said they planned to cable Capt. O'Connell for further details.

Millions Switching To Mutton Suet And Medication

"Old Reliable" For Relieving Chest Muscle Tightness-Coughing, Rheumatic Pain, Simple Bruises and Many Other Home Uses.

Grandma liked to "rub" miseries of chest colds and other simple pain. She medicated her rub but insisted it contain mutton suet. She liked the way mutton suet disappeared as it helped carry medication to nerve ends in skin to relieve pain. Today science has modernized Grandma's old-time pain relief principle to bring you Penetro, the salve that contains mutton suet plus 5 active ingredients. Mothers now thank Grandma for her old idea that created this newer relief.

In this colds' season, Penetro is especially helpful in easing chest muscle tightness, chest rawness, loosening phlegm, relieving coughs. That's because Penetro melts instantly, quickly vanishes to act 3 ways (1) To relieve pain at nerve ends in skin. (2) To ease chest muscle tightness by counter-irritation. (3) To soothe irritated breath passages through inhaled aromatic vapors. Penetro is so helpful, too, in easing rheumatic and neuralgic pain, taking sting from chapped lips and nostrils, and as a soothing dressing for bruises, minor cuts. Today get clean, white, easy-to-use Penetro.

Flat Feet and Loose Tongue Still Keep Him Out of Army

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 14 (AP)—Red-haired George Lee Williams, 21, was elated when police arrested him to be held for the FBI in California, who said he had failed to report for induction into the armed forces.

"That's swell," he grinned, when told the FBI would certainly see that he went into the Army.

But he made the mistake of telling his story:

"For two days," he said, "I stood in line, first for the Army, then for the Navy. They wouldn't take me."

Registering with a Kansas City draft board, he was rejected twice at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., for flat feet. Also, he is only 4 feet 11 inches tall.

He wrote President Roosevelt, but that didn't get him in either.

Playing USO shows in camps in California, he changed his name to Robert Lee Willams and registered with a Los Angeles draft board. When they got around to his name, they couldn't find him.

The board has now ordered Williams released.

White Blasts Plan For Red Teaching

Warning against false propaganda for the consumption of grade pupils and high school students, which might be "tinged with red, rather than red, white and blue," Boston School Committeeman Joseph C. White today declared that the schools must not be made the breeding ground of subversive and un-American ideas.

In a statement on the proposal of the Massachusetts Council for American-Soviet Friendship, made at a Boston University meeting, which would enlist teachers, pupils and parents in a "crusade for better understanding of the Soviet Union," White said the sponsors seemed to have an "unusual interest in the subject at this time."

The White statement followed closely a new attempt to oust Julius E. Warren as State Commissioner of Education, who presided at the Soviet Council meeting, in a second bill filed in the Legislature by Rep. David M. Cleary of Charlestown which declared Warren "unfit to hold the job of commissioner of education."

"We have always endeavored to teach the truth in the historical accounts of other nations, as well as our own, in the Boston public schools," White said. "There has been and probably will be an avalanche of false propaganda for the consumption of grade pupils and high school students. This we must guard against.

"The sponsors of the proposals, known as the Massachusetts Council for American-Soviet Friendship, seem to have an unusual interest in this subject at this particular time. What book would they choose as a text? What author would they select? Who would decide the ideals and policies to be propounded?

Judging from past experience and present trends on the part of some of these groups, their selection of Soviet history might be deeply tinged with red rather than red, white and blue."

Branding it an attempt to "sneak in elements of Communistic teachings under the guise of history and current events," School Committeeman Daniel J. McDevitt yesterday joined in the condemnation of a proposal made at the conference that Massachusetts teachers, pupils and parents be "enlisted" to promote "understanding" with Soviet Russia.

"Here in Boston, we are now teaching an adequate history of Russia and all foreign countries which we of the school committee are determined will reflect no Communist ideas," McDevitt declared. "Our history teaching has been outlined definitely to emphasize American principles of democracy."

Meanwhile, Commr. Warren defended his action, declaring he presided at the conference's section on education "because I felt that if we are at all concerned with the future and given an opportunity to learn the facts, as distinguished from propaganda about Russia, we as teachers might be able to help on the adult level and the child level to understand our Allies and neighbors in the most critical time in our history."

The Nervous System

In my consulting rooms, I see no person with a perfect nervous system. Why do we read of so many suicides, divorces and social scandals? Our asylums are filled to overflowing with the insane and imbeciles. What are the causes of these conditions? AS A PHYSICIAN, I must speak plainly. 1st, Excesses. 2nd, The greed for money. 3rd, Hurried eating, and not the proper food. 4th, Bad or secret habits in boys and girls, more in particular with boys. 5th, Overwork and too little rest with our rapid way of living. 6th, Neglect of parents to properly advise their children. I might go on with many other causes — The Press, the Pulpit and the lecture rooms are silent on physiological laws that should be taught in our public schools. As a result nervous wrecks, shattered humanity and premature graves fill the world. I firmly believe that if every headstone were to give out light of those who have passed away through faults of their own, or neglect of parents, every cemetery in the land would shine and glitter of a dark night.

DENTAL DECAY

Tooth decay is now the greatest physical defect in our population. In 1940, the Army rejected more men because of bad teeth than for any other physical reason. So important is the bearing of teeth on general health that the Army declared 83 out of every 1000 men physically unfit because of dental decay.

What causes tooth decay is a moot question but there is substantial scientific proof that if we will clean our teeth immediately after eating sweets or fermentable carbohydrate food we will do much to protect ourselves against it. A staff member of one of America's leading schools of Dentistry says, "In the control of tooth decay, I place the importance of mouth hygiene first."

TOOTH DECAY
OUR NATION'S GREATEST PHYSICAL DEFECT

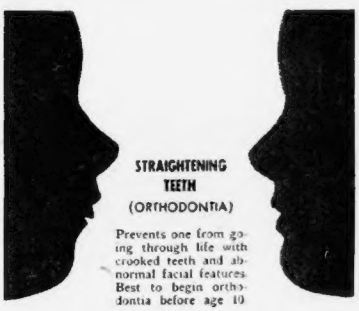
83 out of every 1000 men were declared "physically unfit" by the U S Army in 1940 because of dental defects.

Sound teeth are as essential to the war worker as to the soldier. One day lost because of toothache may mean a thousand less shells for our fighting men!



STRAIGHTENING TEETH
(ORTHODONTIA)

Prevents one from going through life with crooked teeth and abnormal facial features. Best to begin orthodontia before age 10.

Staff Member of One of America's Leading Schools of Dentistry Places MOUTH HYGIENE FIRST In Control of Dental Decay

Brush teeth properly after every meal and always immediately after eating sweets and fermentable foods.' Rinse your mouth out with a good mouth wash. Use dental floss gently to remove food from between teeth. This is what he means by "mouth hygiene"

TOOTH DECAY CAN BE CONTROLLED THROUGH
(1) MOUTH HYGIENE
(2) EARLY EXAMINATION BY A DENTIST
(3) EARLY TREATMENT
(4) PROPER DIET

ORAL HYGIENE
Teeth need to be brushed and the mouth rinsed out (use a good mouth wash) after each meal and after eating sweets.

Do not brush across teeth. It doesn't remove food from between them and may injure gums. Brush lowers with upward stroke, uppers with a downward stroke.

Dental floss, carefully drawn between teeth, will remove lodged particles.

NOT 1 BUT 2 TOOTH BRUSHES
And rotate them so that bristles have a chance to thoroughly dry out. This prolongs the life of your brushes and makes for greater cleaning efficiency.

In spite of careful brushing, teeth may collect stain and tartar which may be injurious. Hence the need for professional cleansing once or twice a year.

VISITS TO DENTIST
A child should be taken to the dentist at age 2½ or 3 years and every 4 to 6 months after. Adults should go every 6 to 12 months. Dental care consists of preventive as well as corrective dentistry. Usually, the more heed given to preventive dentistry, the less need there will be for corrective dentistry.

DIET AND SOUND TEETH
Vitamins play an important part. Milk, oranges, eggs, cod liver oil, spinach, fish, liver, nuts help to develop and preserve good, sound teeth. Pre-natal care is also of the utmost importance.

Problem Of Dental Decay WORSE IN NEW ENGLAND Than In Any Other Part Of The Country

Statistics indicate that the dental decay problem in New England is twice as serious as in the Middle Atlantic States and more than three times as grave as in the Southwest! Why? It may be a lack of fluorine in drinking water, diet, or other causes. We don't know. But we should help the scientists who are trying to find out.

Call Spain, Portugal Anti-Red Barriers

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 14—With the impending collapse of Germany and her destruction as a dam against Communism, Spain and Portugal, a thousand miles to the west, become the next barriers to the onrushing Red Russian tidal flood.

Spain and Portugal will be the last bariers but one—Switzerland—in western Europe.

Realization that that geographical, political and ideological development is at hand is gravely preoccupying high and low in Spain and Portugal.

In both countries, preparations are being made to meet such a situation.

In Portugal, the army has reaffirmed its loyalty to the Salazar government.

In Spain, such reaffirmation of loyalty to Gen. Franco has not been considered necessary.

The wounds of the civil war in 1936 and 1937, in which it is estimated that more than a million Spaniards lost their lives, are still too deep, the scars too apparent, the memory too vivid in all classes, for the Spanish people to desire a recurrence of such strife.

Officially it is stated there are only 24,000 persons still in prison as an aftermath of the civil war, against an estimated 500,000 imprisoned at the end of hostilities.

In view of the certainty that Communist Russian forces will occupy at least a large part of Germany, and that Moscow has in readiness a provisional government for Austria along the lines of the Lublin Polish government, Switzerland, that several centuries old citadel of democracy in the Alps, is working quietly but intensively on stabilizing an anti-Communist front.

Fear and dread in Switzerland, and preoccupation in Spain and Portugal, have been increased by the condemnation and execution of 101 Bulgarian political leaders, generals, professors and three regents, including Cyril, brother of the late King Boris, by a "people's tribunal" controlled and dominated by Communists.

Similar preparations are reported under way by the Romanian Communist minister of justice in Bucharest to put political leaders, generals, professors and the intelligensia in Romania before such a court.

Concern has not been lessened by the activity of the 26 special tribunals in France, strongly influenced or dominated by Communists, which have so far sentenced 471 persons to death and hundreds to long imprisonment.

France is no longer counted upon as even a weak barrier to the sweep of Communism and totalitarian Russia's power westward on the continent.

France's onetime glorious democracy appears to be wrecked, perhaps even beyond repair or reconstruction.

Communism has infiltrated throughout that republic. The only really organized well-directed political party in France is the Communist party.

It is part of my job to listen daily to American, British, Soviet, German, French, Dutch, Swiss and other broadcasts, for their respective presentation of news and for their propaganda.

When I listen to New York and Washington political broadcasts I am sometimes impressed by the fact that there are some Americans who are still sleepwalking amidst the grim realities in Europe.

THE LARGEST SELLING COLD TABLET IN THE WORLD!
GROVE'S

Veteran, 19, Tells Deeds Of Quincy-Built Carrier

Take it from Cox. George W. Lansing, Jr., 19, the Quincy shipyard workers who built the huge aircraft carrier Bunker Hill turned out as vengeful a piece of fighting machinery as ever sailed the seven seas.

Lansing, whose home is in Townsend ave., Braintree, ought to know. His service on the Bunker Hill won him a row of battle stars representing 13 major engagements. He is home on leave after 18 months on the carrier and nearly two years in the Navy.

The Bunker Hill was launched on the most appropriate date imaginable, Dec. 7, 1942.

And she went on from there to cover herself with glory in the First Battle of the Philippine Sea, at Leyte, Tarawa, Saipan, Babaul, Nauru and many more. Her planes and anti-aircraft fire have knocked down 263 Jap planes, 76 in one day off Rabaul. Her pilots have smashed Jap warship concentrations and ground installations.

Her deck has even served as a gymnasium for Japanese, Lansing explains.

COX. G. W. LANSING, JR.
In 13 Major Engagements

"We were at Saipan. The Japs have a quaint custom of sending natives pretty far out in sampans to pose as fishermen and do a little espionage. One of our destroyers came across one of the craft and took the Japs aboard. Then she transferred them to us one at a time in a bosun's chair.

"We interrogated them later but while we had them we had to feed them and exercise them. They did those setting up drills by command. It was odd to see a bunch of little Japs flexing their muscles on an American carrier, but you're apt to see a lot of odd things in a war."

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

This column has received letters from time to time requesting assistance in matters not directly connected with the duties of Veterans' Friend Editor. Many of these have been handled.

From a soldier now in Belgium comes the request "to do everything possible to obtain for him a divorce from his wife here in Boston."

I am afraid the comrade will have to look to legal sources to help solve his problem, which cannot be accomplished in this state by remote control, regardless.

If this column reaches him, I suggest he take matter up with the Legal or Personnel Officer attached to his unit.

And from the Mariana Islands in the Pacific, comes a legitimate request from a 42-year-old Navy man, who writes:

"I have been reading your column out here in the Pacific. I think it is very helpful. (Thanks.) How can I stay in the Navy after the war? I would like to be stationed at either Philadelphia or New York Navy Yards. Was a rigger in civilian life for 16 years. My wife does not want me to return to rigging.

"H. S. N., Seabee."

Have written me Pacific reader that according to Navy regulations if he enlisted in the Navy before reaching 35, it will be possible for him to remain in the Navy provided he is physically fit. If over 35 at time of enlistment, he will be retired at end of war. Navy Personnel Officer will handle his problem regarding navy yard assignment if eligible to remain in service.

Getting back to local veteran affairs the Veterans' Administration announces opening of quarters in Room 730, Federal Building, Boston, to assist veterans anxious to obtain loans for farm, home or business purposes. This office will also handle processing of loans.

William C. McClelland of the Veterans' Administration is in charge. Explanation in detail of their rights under the GI Bill will be given to returning service men who seek a successful return to civilian life. Hitherto loans were being processed in New York.

Several inquiries have been received regarding the new World War II veterans organization. The chartered name of organization is American Veterans of World War II. They have headquarters at State House, Boston. Or contact Solden Z. Rivkind, publicity director, 155 Massachusetts ave., Boston 15, Mass.

(Questions submitted Veterans' Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.)

Pneumonia Fells Hero's Son Again

Nineteen-months-old Thomas F Hickey, Jr., whose father, a lieutenant, fighting with the First Army on the western front, was reported slightly improved at Newton Hospital today where he is under treatment for pneumonia.

The child's mother, Mrs. Catherine Hickey, 23, said it was the second time within a year that little Tommy had contracted pneumonia.

The youngster had been ill for a month with whooping cough and mumps, and when pneumonia developed, doctors advised removing him to the hospital as a precautionary measure.

Tommy's illness poses a second major problem within a few weeks for his plucky mother. Only last month she hunted in vain for a home for herself and three children. When her plight was revealed by the Boston Evening American, Mrs. Hickey received offers of six homes from readers She finally moved to Newton Highlands. Her husband has been awarded the Silver Star and the Bronze Star Medal for gallantry in action.

PROTECT MEN WHO PROTECT US

SERVICE MEN'S discharge papers are vitally essential documents, now and as long as the recipients live.

But because they are papers, they are easily lost, damaged and destroyed.

When this happens, as it frequently does, the war veteran is unable to supply certified evidence of his military record or the circumstances of his release, and the problem of obtaining substitute papers involves a needless expenditure of time and money.

For that reason, the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser long ago suggested that cities and towns of the Commonwealth register discharge papers without cost to the veterans.

Now the suggestion appears in a bill filed by Rep. David M. Cleary of Boston and known as House No. 593.

Of course the measure should be promptly approved by the Committee on Military Affairs and Public Safety and quickly passed by both the House and Senate.

It represents a little of the much we owe the men who are fighting and winning this war in Europe and the Pacific.

And it gives us at home an opportunity to prove that we are sincerely determined to protect the lads who protected us, too often at the risk of their lives.

NEEDED LAWS

THERE is an increasingly widespread movement to make several momentous changes in the Massachusetts Constitution.

A constitutional convention will therefore be considered by the Legislature and very likely submitted to the voters two years hence.

Governor Tobin wants the tax structure drastically altered so the cost of government can be more equitably distributed.

Judge Daniel J. Gillen of the Boston Municipal Court, pointing out that 42 other states have "free speech for the people" clauses in their fundamental laws, wants Massachusetts to join them.

He would accomplish this desirable and obviously necessary thing by amending Article 16 of the Constitution which provides free speech for the Legislature and press but omits the people.

Other men, notably Representative Cleary, who has filed the veterans' papers bill, would have the convention go a step further and reduce the legal voting age to 18 years.

Massachusetts holds that men in their late teens are old enough and mature enough to fight and, if need be, to die for democracy.

Certainly, therefore, it is unfair and woefully inconsistent with the traditions of a just people for Massachusetts to add:

"BUT you are not old enough or mature enough to have a voice in the government for which you are fighting and dying."

WHAT DO YOU SAY?

REPRESENTATIVE CLEARY'S name appears on another timely petition.

Labelled House Bill No. 972, it says:

"No person because of having minor children shall be refused the right to rent or lease any tenement or apartment, and any owner or other person having control for the purpose of renting or leasing any tenement or apartment, who refuses to rent or lease the same to such person, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars."

Here is a controversial question which should be debated fully in both branches of the Legislature, for certainly we need children if we are to endure as a State and nation ... but we can ill afford conditions which er... e birth control.

...eanwhile, we should like to hear what our readers think about property owners who bar children from their premises.

"THE LATE George Apley," one of the hits of the New York season, although somewhat marred by too many interpolations of Mr. George Kaufman's excessively waggish whimsy, is an interesting play. Mr. Apley, a Beacon st. Bostonian, brilliantly portrayed by Leo G. Carroll, believes when two people do not have a number of things in common, even love is not sufficient to make their marriage a happy one. I am inclined to agree with this idea. However, before reaching a definite conclusion, I shall have our Horses and Women experts look into the matter, by checking with persons who have had actual experience along these lines.

CONTENTED WIVES: Color expert states kitchens should be painted red, green or orange. These colors, says he, will have the effect of keeping a housewife in a happy, contented frame of mind. The majority of women still fight shy of a married man. Usually not because they respect his mariage but because they are afraid if they become involved with him his wife may pull their hair, or even take a shot at them. But, anyhow, no wedding ring for me. When worn by a man it is a symbol of subjection."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IF THE American civilian is drafted for labor, subject to arbitrary assignment in a non-service status at fixed wages, that loss of freedom will be a price paid by the whole people for the political ambitions of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife and the crimes of the union movement.

Westbrook Pegler

This man already has more power than any other President ever had and many of the powers exercised by Adolf Hitler and Joseph Stalin. If, so empowered, he has failed to produce sufficiently for the war then he has fallen down on his job through incompetence and his own selfish politics.

His demand for the labor draft is a confession that he has failed to produce.

★ ★ ★

BUT THE DEBATES have proved that the draft is unnecessary and the War and Navy Departments, including the secretaries and many high service officers, have been guilty of connivance at fraudulent arguments that it is necessary. This is a dangerous conspiracy by these departments and these officers to abolish the freedom of the whole people, probably forever.

With Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief, they have misrepresented some facts and ignored others, and the services, for the first time, have made a grab for authority over the civilian population.

Given this grip over the people for the duration of the "emergency," which might last 10 or 12 years, they never could be shaken off and we would have a continental society bossed by generals and admirals under the patronage of their boss.

Under Mr. Roosevelt's politics we have had war industry strikes at the rate of 5000 a year. He and his union henchmen and his Labor Department have falsified the loss of manpower caused by these strikes and by the consequent idleness of non-strikers.

The loss of hours by non-strikers has been more grievous than the loss of production by actual strikers but is always ignored by them in their self-serving alibis.

★ ★ ★

IN PHILADELPHIA a few street car men quit, interrupting the work of half a million workers who used the cars for transportation. The subservient Department of Justice attempted to shift the blame from Roosevelt.

The guilt was his because he drove the men to strike by delivering them into the power of a group of New York Communists whose conspiratorial activities the men bitterly resented.

And the loss of production here was a sacrifice to Roosevelt's alliance with Sidney Hillman's following. This loss is falsely attributed to a labor shortage and the whole American people are threatened with civilian conscription.

★ ★ ★

THE DEMAND for conscription has been cried up by James Byrnes, a political handshaker who, as a Justice of the Supreme Court upheld the stand-by or featherbedding systems of unions which actually forbid men to do as much work as they reasonably can and even forbid many men to work at all.

That stand-by system has wasted millions of hours that might have been worked by able-bodied men and it is maintained by Roosevelt in a political conspiracy with a gang of predatory unioneers who have supported him in return.

Now it is proposed that the entire nation should abandon the liberty of civilians to make up for this continuing waste.

It is further insisted, and Congress has conceded, that men so drafted and even shifted from their homes to atone for this corruption, will have to join unions in closed shop plants and make compulsory contributions to Roosevelt's political funds.

This was a systematic shakedown in the recent campaign and men who refused to contribute to Hillman's auxiliary were fired and thus subtracted from the sum of the nation's productive manpower.

That loss was added to the "shortage" of labor, which now, with the collusion of the War and Navy Departments, is represented as sufficient reason for a civilian draft.

★ ★ ★

THE SLOW-DOWN in union shops, notoriously in the production of tires for the Artillery and Army vehicles in Europe, was exposed last fall.

Thousands of men and women, finishing their easy quotas long before quitting time, simply loafed the rest of their shifts.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14 — Charles Boyer, who had such an uncomfortable time when it was impossible to stop his nose bleeding, and had to remain in a hospital for three days, is home again

Charles, I am told off the record, is wanted by Darryl Zanuck for "Cluny Brown." If Darryl gets him I'll say the picture is perfectly cast. I started plugging for Jennifer Jones, who will play Cluny, long before she got the part.

Sylvia Sidney

Both Jennifer and Charles might have stepped right out of the pages of the English novel. If you've read the book I don't need to tell you Charles is up for the role of the eccentric artist who married the parlor maid. First Lubitsch admits some changes will be made in the original story to make the romance more believable, but I certainly hope he keeps the hilarious ending of the book.

★ ★ ★

SYLVIA SIDNEY, who was one of the screen's most able actresses at the time she decided to forget movies in favor of the stage, is remaining in Hollywood. William Cagney has put her on a long term contract and her next picture will be a drama called "Manila," without James Cagney. She was Jimmie's leading lady in "Blood on the Sun." "Manila" is a postwar story about the rebuilding of the Philippines, with Sylvia playing an American woman who returns to the island to lead the fight for rehabilitation.

Not only is Louis Bromfield batting out an original Western for this studio titled "Colorado," but Paul Wellman, author of "Jubal Troop," "Bowl of Brass" and "Angel With Spurs," comes on the lot to do another outdoor opus, "Red Gold." The background is Arizona in the days of 1890 and the star in mind is John Wayne. It's good news that Ford and Harry Cohn got together after three days of discussion. Glenn remains at Columbia with a new contract at raise in salary. D. L. TOFFENETTI, restaurateur, an immigrant boy who parlayed baked Idaho potatoes and strawberry shortcake into a chain of restaurants and a seven figure bank account . . . He still writes the menus for all his places himself and floral is the name for them! His motto is "If you can make someone want to eat something, half your battle to win his satisfaction is won." He also works on the theory that a word of praise furthers your desires a thousand times more than a harsh word! Not a bad thought for our own lives, don't you think?"

SONNY TUFTS, star of Paramount's "Bring On the Girls," decided long before he grew to the six-foot-three-stratosphere he now inhabits, that it would take a giant and a belligerent one at that, to carry around the name of Lewen Charleston Tufts III unmolested. Not thinking it was worth the trouble, he adopted the name Sonny and likes it! To look at him anytime around like an apologetic St. Bernard, you'd never guess that he is the smallest member of his family! It must have been done with mirrors!

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14— In my efforts to cement better Anglo-American relations—I wish that darn cement wouldn't keep crumbling—I printed a communication recently from a party who is very British on account of being English.

I thought I had done the right thing by him and dear old Britannia, but it seems the blighter has still another beef. I have heard from him again as follows:

"It was awfully white of you to deter my Aunt Sarah from the rash action she was headed for. (Ed. note: The lady was contemplating popping Sir Percy Noble of the British Admiralty over Lend-Lease.) But in so doing you have unintentionally exposed her to the most frightful danger

"I suppose it was the proofreading Johannes who altered the spelling of her name to make it read Miss Sarah Cavendish-fish. Her name is actually Cavendish-fush—with a small 'f' in fish. And the circumstances are such that if she is caught spelling it with a capital 'F' while the war is on she may easily be tossed in the jug.

"My Aunt Sarah really has nobody but herself to blame; in fact, the situation would not have arisen had she not made up her mind that the Vicar of Bottle Parva, in Buckinghamshire, was a German spy.

★ ★ ★

"MY AUNT was feeling rather muddy (Ed. note—Badly) because the regular vicar, the Rev. Chauncey (Skinny) Fowkes, had gone to war as a chaplain. She had something of a crush on Skinny, although the reason was undiscernible to the naked eye.

"She took an instant dislike to the new vicar, the Rev. John Baynes Witherspoon. One day she confided she was positive he was a Nazi agent. I thought she was overdoing it a bit, but one does not argue lightly with my Aunt Sarah.

"She began to snoop around the vicarage after dark, but all she got out of these expeditions were a lot of scratches from getting tangled in a rosebush But, finally, she hit upon a cunning way of trapping the new vicar into revealing himself as a German

"She recalled that when she had been stage manager for a play presented by the Lilac Grove Academy for Young Ladies the German spa in the play gave himself away because of the Germanic way he wrote the letter 'F' and the figure '7.'

★ ★ ★

"MY AUNT SARAH decided to trick the vicar into writing something with 'F' and '7' in it. She wrote him she was compiling motor car registration numbers for a study being conducted by the public library and would he please send her the number of his car. He was being allowed petrol for his motor because he had a large parish and was also in the Home Guard.

"She knew there was a '7' in the license number. And to catch him out on the 'F' she signed herself 'Sarah Cavendish-fish.' It was the first time in her life she'd done that but the vicar, being a newcomer, could not know.

"The vicar indubitably thought she was off her rocker (Ed. note—Nuts) but he sent the number, also addressing her as 'Dear Miss Cavendish-fish.' Flushed with triumph my Aunt Sarah promptly called in Scotland Yard and presented the damning evidence

★ ★ ★

"THE WHOLE THING was unfortunate from the beginning. It was pouring rain when the Scotland Yard man tried to find the house and the poor bloke (Ed. note—Bloke) got lost in the blackout and got soaking wet. Even so it might have been all right if he had not tripped and fallen on his face in the gravel path.

"It seems Aunt Sarah had taken the forethought to string a wire across the gateway.

"The Scotland Yard man was simmering with rage and when Aunt Sarah showed him the vicar's letter he came to a boil. Finally he pulled himself together and said through his teeth:

"'May I see your identity card, madam?'

"You know everyone in England must have an identity card. When my Aunt Sarah produced hers he gritted

"'I see the 'Fish' in your name is spelled with a capital 'F.' In your letter to the vicar you spelled it with a small 'f.' Are you aware it is a very serious offense to use a name other than that on your identity card?'

"The Scotland Yard man said she must have it corrected at once, to which my Aunt Sarah replied 'Of course!' very haughtily.

★ ★ ★

"And THAT is who she became—and has jolly well got to stay—Miss Sarah Cavendish-fush for the duration. Of course, I felt I had to rally around and get my identity card changed, too.

"I'm sure therefore you will see how fearfully important the things are for my Aunt Sarah and also for yours sincerely, Kenneth Cavendish-fush

Red Cross to Instruct GI Wives' Clubs

School officials today gratefully accepted the offer of the Boston Metropolitan Red Cross Chapter, made through Mrs. Phister Cowin, chairman of the home nursing division, to give home nursing instruction to servicemen's wives at Wives' Club centers.

Meantime, entries are pouring in from wives and mothers of servicemen in the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser contest to select a name for the clubs. First prize in the contest is a $100 war bond and second prize is a $50 war bond. Entries must be sent before midnight Saturday to Servicemen's Wives Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass

In offering Red Cross aid in home nursing to the school committee officials, Mrs. Cowin stated:

"We will be glad to help in any way. If any of the GI wives who form your clubs wish home nursing instruction, we will be glad to furnish qualified instructors who will give this free of charge."

Under her Red Cross activities, Mrs. Cowin is sponsoring a home nursing course especially for servicemen's wives. The group is being formed and instruction will get under way within the next few days.

The first of the clubs for servicemen's wives will be opened Feb. 28 at the Dorchester School Center in Dorchester High School for Girls. Music, entertainment and a short speaking program are on the bill for the night, when servicemen's wives will gather to form their own exclusive organization and to plan their season's social activities.

Rep. Brown Hits Paper Exports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—New criticism was directed today against the State Dept. for recommending heavy allocations of scarce American paper for shipment to foreign interests in France.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R.) of Ohio, in a letter to the department declared it paradoxical that heavy tonnages of paper are being exported to France while "great quantities of pulp and paper lie untapped in neighboring countries."

Much Ado About Love Swamps Box Office

An unprecedented mail order demand for tickets to the new Kurt Weill-Edwin Justus Mayer-Ira Gershwin musical, "Much Ado About Love," which Max Gordon is sponsoring, has swamped the boxoffice staff of the Colonial Theater where the production opens for its world premiere Friday evening, Feb. 23. Playgoers, mindful of the previous Weill-Gershwin collaboration, the sensational "Lady in the Dark," are making certain they get seats by making reservations well in advance.

Spanish Film At Fine Arts

"The Virgin of Guadalupe," the Spanish film with English titles, brings to the Fine Arts screen tomorrow the story of the love of our Lady, Mary, the Mother of God.

The film is based on the book, "The Miracle at Tepeyac," by the Mexican Jesuit, Father Carlow de Heredia, and is portrayed by Mexican and Spanish performers against a Spanish background. It has been favorably compared to the Hollywood-made film of the same theme, "The Song of Bernadette."

"The Virgin of Guadalupe" is being presented at the Fine Arts Theater under the auspices of the Sacred Heart radio program, a nationwide broadcast designed to bring a message of consolation and strength to families of servicemen as well as to our boys in hospitals throughout the nation.

Beauty

Secret of Fine Skin

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

HAVE THE WINTER WINDS and dry indoor heat made your skin more sensitive than usual?

The years have brought many wonderful improvements in cosmetics and the art of makeup . . . but a fine cleansing cream still remains the most important asset to good skin care. Though there is nothing exciting or new about the tried and true method of patting on cleansing cream with an upward and outward lifting motion . . . this faithful routine is the secret of that clear, vibrant-looking skin when it turns you gracefully through the years with lovely, young look.

Contingent, of course, upon the just right type of cleansing cream . . . a cream that is neither too rich nor too lean for your particular type of skin . . . and that is very important. Some skins don't have cleansing creams worked upon them that like sufficient hold to do a thorough job . . . while other creams overload the tissues with an extra dose of richness . . . like an extra helping of gooey dessert which does neither your complexion nor your weight much good.

Now, more than ever, your cleansing creams should have your careful attention. Skip other things, if you must . . . but pick an emulsified cleansing cream or pink cleansing cream . . . whichever is "right" for your skin . . . and take 10 minutes at the end of your busy day for a scrupulous cleansing of your skin. This will help you to look your best through the months of intense effort ahead.

The pink cleansing cream . . . which looks like a froth of pink whipped cream . . . is the fluffy, cold-cream-type of cleanser . . . perfect for normal or slightly oily skin. You girls should be especially fond of this cream because it goes on and off so quickly and easily . . . and cleans so perfectly. Older women also appreciate the fine texture of this fragrant cream.

Be generous in your use of either of these creams. You can afford to . . . for you can get a $1.75 jar for only $1 for the next few weeks. At times like these when prices are high . . . a little saving is a great consideration.

For the names of these superb two-type cleansing creams, phone the Beauty Dept. LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LET YOUR LOVELY FACE reveal the exquisite care you give it. In the final analysis . . . a fine cleansing cream still remains the most important asset to good skin care . . . for it is like saving up for a rainy day . . . that day when a "love in bloom" complexion can disguise the date of your birth . . . We can't forever look as sweet and girlish as charming Martha Vickers.

Cherry Pie Always Popular Dessert

By MARTHA LEE

EVERYONE in the family will be pleased with at least one cherry pie during National Cherry Week—Feb. 15 to 22. Canned cherries are not so plentiful this year, but in better food stores there is a fairly steady supply of frozen cherries that taste like fresh cherries. You may find your grocer's shelf spasmodically stocked with canned pie-cherries. And, of course, many homemakers have their own thrifty store of home canned or frozen cherries.

CHERRY-MINCEMEAT PIE

CHERRY PIE

With Canned Cherries

Two-crusted pie
2 cup sugar
2 tbsp flour Pinch salt
½ cup juice drained from canned cherries
3 cups drained, canned pitted sour red cherries
2 tbsp softened butter or margarine

Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Combine sugar, flour and salt; stir in cherry juice and cook until clear—about 5 minutes. Place cherries and butter in lined pie plate, and pour over them the cherry juice mixture. Adjust top crust. Bake pie 40 minutes in a hot oven of 425 deg. F. Makes one 9-inch pie.

If you want to serve the pleasing flavor and stretch the fruit, combine the cherries with some other more plentiful fruit—peaches, rhubarb, apple or mincemeat, for instance. You can dramatize the precious cherry flavor, and save pastry fats, too, by baking a more or less open-face pie and topping it with pastry cut-outs of cherries, or by using a lattice top.

CHERRY-RHUBARB PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
1 pkg. frozen red tart cherries, thawed and drained, or 1 can red tart cherries, drained
1 pkg. frozen rhubarb, thawed and drained, or 2 cup canned or fresh rhubarb, drained
1 cup juice 1 cup sugar
3 tbsp quick-cooking tapioca

Combine ingredients and place in unbaked pie shell. Top as desired—full crust, criss-cross or cut-outs. Bake pie 40 minutes in a hot oven of 425 deg. F.

If desired a meringue topping on this pie may be used. Bake pie as directed. Then place usual meringue mixture as topping and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer in a moderate oven.

CHERRY-MINCEMEAT PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
1 pkg. frozen red tart cherries, thawed and drained
1 to 2 cups mincemeat
2 to ½ tbsp. corn syrup

Place mincemeat in unbaked pie shell. Then cover with layer of cherries. Brush cherries with the corn syrup. Bake in 425 deg. F. for 40 minutes. If possible, brush the cherries frequently with the corn syrup during the baking period.

CHERRY-PEACH PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
1 pkg. frozen peaches, thawed and drained (canned or fresh peaches may be used)
1 pkg. frozen red tart cherries, thawed and drained (canned sour cherries may be used)
1 cup sugar
3 tbsp quick-cooking tapioca

Combine filling ingredients. Place in unbaked pie shell. Top with full crust, criss-cross or cut-outs. Bake in 425 deg. F. oven for 40 minutes.

KEEP ON SAVING FATS

Lee Marshall, Director of Distribution, War Food Administration, stresses that the defeat of Germany will not lessen the need for saving used fat. We must keep on saving fats until "J" Day—the day the Japs are licked.

Fashion

IT IS NOT for naught that Adrian, California's noted designer, yesterday captured top honors of the third annual American Fashion Critics Award in New York . . . for outstanding achievement in the field of fashion during 1944 . . . as this stunning and unusual dinner dress has the Adrian touch in the pink and green starched gingham ruff and ruffle down the back. Ultra-sophisticated we "calls" it.—R. M.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—I am sure that all of us this morning got up with one first thought in mind. We wanted to know what agreements had been reached by the Big Three.

I think the outstanding thing which makes everybody heave a sigh of relief is the fact that agreement could be reached on so many subjects and that friendly co-operation could continue not only to win the war but to win the first steps for the reorganization of peace.

All Americans must look forward with tremendous interest to the first United Nations meeting in San Francisco.

The inclusion of the government of China and the provisional government of France, which will be immediately consulted and invited to sponsor invitations to the conference jointly with the governments of the United States, Great Britain and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, is an encouraging sign for the broadening of international co-operation.

* * *

STEP BY STEP, we seem to be moving to the laying of a firm foundation on which to build peace in the future. This cannot be done, however, unless the people of the nations involved see to it that at home they build the kind of atmosphere in which economic and political freedom is possible.

This will require scrutiny of our domestic acts and a careful choice of our leaders.

Religious and racial prejudices are clearly no sound foundation for better understanding and unity.

An economic policy which does not consider the well-being of all will not serve the purposes of peace and the growth of well-being among the people of all nations.

Rayon Coats Shed Rain

WHEN the rains come this Spring quite a lot of girls are going to wear one of the new colorful raincoats that are just out. These coats come in two or three colors and they are made of a wonderful rayon gabardine that's treated with zelan, a durable water repellent that makes it shed rain and keep light colors clean.

A model is sketched. This raincoat has a blousy body of soft clear blue, with the buck, sleeves and collar in old gold. It has bishop sleeves, the newest kind in coats, and a soft turn-over collar. Four pockets are set in horizontally with decorative flaps marking them.

A blue satin beret which also repels water is shown with this coat.

How this new energy-charged Wonder Bread can give you the extra energy you want

Contains Vitamins of the B Complex and Iron your body needs to help get all the energy out of it

Thanks to a revolutionary new baking method, you can now get bread with no big holes that leak sandwich fillings on shirts or dresses. Compare a slice from the middle of the loaf of new Wonder Bread with ordinary bread—see the amazing difference!

Energy comes only from the food you eat. Thus, to get more energy—eat more energy food. Nature gets energy out of food with the help of Vitamins B_1 and B_2 and Iron.

This is how: The two vitamins help to oxidize food in the cells; and the Iron in your blood brings oxygen to the cells.

Study the chart. Then eat extra slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day to get extra energy.

Get Vitamins, Iron

Ask for Wonder Bread by name because it contains Vitamins B_1 and B_2 and Iron necessary to help Nature properly transform it into energy for your body.

Remember—only Wonder Bread is sold under its famous $1,000 Vitamin B_1 guarantee.

Doubly Fresh

In addition, energy-charged Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it, fresh when you eat it.

Because Wonder Bread is slo-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Smart Set

Women Ace Curlers

By BETTY ALDEN

THE COUNTRY CLUB'S feminine set is becoming more and more enthusiastic about the old Scottish game of curling which used to be regarded strictly as a sport for the stronger sex. Every Tuesday the wives get together for practice games and it's fun to watch them hurling the big curling stones across the slippery ice, aiming to have them land in the center of three big concentric circles. It's not as easy as it sounds.

Devotees of the sport are very proud of the curling tam-o'-shanter and wouldn't think of curling without wearing one. The tam is a deep blue with a tall feather fastened to one side with a colorful enamel medallion. Otherwise there is no particular costume to identify curlers. The ladies wear sport skirts and jackets or sweaters, usually in colors to blend with the tam. Snow and sleet do not interfere with their sport because it is played on an enclosed rink.

Catherine Curtis

Enthusiastic feminine curlers glimpsed on the rink lately were Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Ellery Rogers, Mrs. Paul Clark, Mrs. Harry Middendorf and Mrs. Lawrence Hansel. They are practicing to perfect their game so that when travel restrictions are lifted they can go to Quebec to compete in international matches.

* * *

Old Man Winter has been so generous with snowflakes and ice this year that Hub socialites are more sports minded than in many seasons. The Country Club's skating pond which is scraped down to its crystal surface as soon as possible after every snowstorm is the mecca for the younger set and glimpsed twirling in graceful figures there the other afternoon were sub-debs Laura Curtis, Ellen Minot, Winkie Chase, Barbara Meigs and pretty blonde Catherine Curtis, all in gay skating togs.

* * *

ROUND AND ABOUT—Darby Almy of Dedham was one of the most excited rooters for the Belmont Hill hockey team the other night when her brother Bob made the winning goal in the game against Brooks School. Others cheering loudly were Mr and Mrs. Rollin Hale, Barbara Hale and Frankie Walker.

Luncheon in a twosome after shopping for valentines were Mr and Mrs. Constantine Hutchins of Needham.

Lowell Woman Had Sleep Pills

LAWRENCE, Feb. 14 — Miss Loretta Therrien, 30-year-old Lowell mill worker and former hospital attendant, who was found drug-stupefied, with her legs slashed, on Lawrence Common yesterday, had been given a hypodermic, police disclosed today.

Physicians at Lawrence General Hospital, where she rallied this morning, were trying to learn whether her dazed condition was caused by the injection, or by sleep-producing tablets such as several found in her purse.

Miss Therrien regained consciousness and told police a Lowell physician's nurse "gave me a hypo." The physician denied the young woman had been at his office.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Saves You Big Dollars, and It's So Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about 4 times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing, how quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Modern U.S. Soldier an Improvement on Old AEF

By AUSTEN LAKE

OUR PRESENT AEF SOLDIERS ARE better ambassadors of good will than we of that other AEF were. They are on friendlier terms with the resident people of Europe than we of the first World War. There is less friction, less mutual intolerance and less yowls of official rage.

Austen Lake

Not that I wish to belittle our World War I veterans, of which I was one. The people of France and England regarded us coldly as parvenues in the war. They never bothered to study our traits. They gave way to raw nerves and some very childish quibbles. And we never quite understood their chronic ingratitude, or their greed in money matters, or their talent with the chisel—things which modern America recognizes as incurable European practice.

This time both we and they are making honest attempts to allow for variable habits and slants of national character. The rural natives of France and England, under duress, are tolerant and fraternal as any American, and generally accept our boys at friendly face value and mutual good nature.

London and Paris are different matters! The populations of these sprawling cities, like all metropolitan areas, are sophisticated, impersonal, disillusioned and more aloof than their country cousins. But so's your Uncle Theophilus in New York city! For now the Londoner and Parisian, after taking a brutal beating from war, is being jostled and mobbed by mixtures of many Allied nationalities, including the 57 varieties of refugees and soldiery and a heavy saturation of U. S. Army, both on duty and off.

We Are Still a "Sucker Nation"

THAT'S THE SOURCE OF WHATEVER critical opinion you may read in your home-town press—the so-called "European Opinion," which is no more typical than if you ask a loafer on Boston Common what he thinks of Texas. The attitude of Londoners toward Americans is one of patient resignation, as one might endure a temporary case of measles. Restaurants are mobbed and the food is thin. Hotels are overflowing and lodging scarce. Luxuries are rare and prices ballooned. London is by way of being a boom town and doesn't like it. Paris, as a tourist town, doesn't mind so much.

But neither London nor Paris, per se, are England and France any more than New York is America. Out in the country among the church towns, the hedgerows, the hamlets and farmsteads the plain people, which are any nation's heart, liver and lungs, have taken our kids to their ample bosoms and called 'em cousin.

O sure! Europeans still regard us as a sucker nation legitimate prey for every shopkeeper and hotel owner. The tradition still lives that every American mines his own gold and mints his own money. Foreign peoples still hail the arrival of U. S. troops as a harvest time, just like our own people of Louisville, Ky., do before Derby Day and the local folk at Newport did during the International Yacht Races. We bleed our suckers too!

But nowadays the French government, or what is left of it, doesn't issue any shining, silver two-franc pieces. The only metal coins in French circulation are brass or alloy. So they can't squawk so shrilly, as they did, about the habit of the old AEF of tap-tapping the edges of the silver 2-franc to make souvenir rings. In that elder time the trick was to hammer down the rim and hollow out the middle, to preserve the legend, "Liberte, Fraternite, Egalite" within the ring's interior.

Of course, a soldier would waste half a dozen such coins before he fashioned one that suited his whim. The French government complained that this habit destroyed untold millions of silver bullion, not to mention the cost of minting the money. So that was only another of the teensy-weensy exasperations among the biggy-wiggy ones, most of which had to do with money. All Europeans are extremely sensitive about money.

"Who Won the War?" vs. Uncle Shylock

WELL, WE OF THE OLD AEF used to flash large wads of French toilet paper currency and the natives screamed bitterly about our custom of tearing up bundles of 5, 10 and 20 francs notes which became dog-eared in dice games and required more mending than our guys had patience. Being inherently pious about currency themselves, the French poilu would yank out their beards and cluck "Sacre" and "Mille tonnerre" when some fuzz-faced kid from Kankakee ripped up the equivalent of their year's pay and swaggered away with more wealth in the bulge of his blouse than the native Frog could save in a lifetime of toil.

But the most pernicious problem was the stampede of the female population to get chummy with our men, in that fascination so peculiar among the ladies of all nations, including our own, toward a man who is in ample funds. So the male side of the French and English thought our guys were social successes beyond all proportion to their natural charms, which our guys regarded as a slur on their masculinity. So both sides were irritated about that!

The female tendencies haven't changed much in this war, except that our current kids don't get to town as often as we uster and haven't so much spending-power, due to the exchange "gyp" which Washington engineered to soften De Gaulle's screams. Thus our boys are thrown on their natural he-man endowments and their artful talent for pursuasion.

So, all-in-all, when we elder Yanks started home we left behind a big, throbbing gripe, which was partly OURS and partly THEIRS. This was not enhanced by our porthole farewells of "who won the war?" and impolite serenades of "Hinky-Dinky." Nor did we, in turn, relish the epithet of "Uncle Shylock" or the universal debt welsh. But that's all over now and I believe that our current breed will come out of this global cataclysm with greater social credit and spin more silken threads of harmony. Both of us have made concessions since the last time.

Clapper Provides Spark To Keep Bruins in Race

By BILL GRIMES

Although he isn't airing his views from the house tops, Coach Paul Thompson believes that the Blackhawks will make the playoff despite the 3 to 2 setback his charges recieved last night from the Bruins at the Garden.

Until they ran afoul of the Rossmen, the Hawks had only lost one game in five starts. Over the week-end, they handed the Maple Leafs two beatings and were confident that they would take the Rossmen. But, unfortunately for the aggregation from the Windy City, Coach "Dit" Clapper was as frisky as a two year old last night. Clapper was the sparkplug of the Bruins. He turned in one of his best games. Time after time, he broke up Chicago threats and it didn't seem to make any difference whether he was playing right or left defense. And, on the offense, he figured in on one goal.

The Hawks are on their way to New York, where they'll play the Rangers tomorrow night. But, before that game, Coach Thompson must make a very important decision.

When Ken McAuley was injured last week, Lester Patrick brought Doug Stevenson up from the Rovers of the Eastern League. Now, it was perfectly all right for Rangers to use Stevenson against the Canucks last Sunday, but the young goalie is the property of the Chicago Blackhawks. Stevenson has been to Chicago training camps for three years. He was hanging around Chicago early this season working out at practice sessions. Then, in order to give the youngster some experience, Thompson sent Stevenson to the Rovers, on loan.

DECISION UP TO PATRICK

Naturally, Lester Patrick will screech if Thompson refuses to allow Stevenson to play for Rangers tomorrow. But, the Hawks are only a half game behind the New Yorkers, and if Rangers should beat Chicago with Stevenson in the nets, Thompson would be holding the bag.

Now, the question is who will decide whether or not Thompson can recall Stevenson. Pres. Mervyn "Red" Dutton is supposed to be out in Calgary. And, if he is, Lester Patrick is the acting head of the N.H.L. Now, isn't that something?

The Bruins had much the better of the play last night. Harvey Bennett, who replaced the ailing Paul Bibeault in the nets, didn't have much to do, but he gave a very fine account of himself. Bennett was called upon to make only 13 saves to 34 by Mike Karakas. He held the Hawks scoreless for 19 minutes and 21 seconds. Then the Bruin outer defense slipped out of gear and "Butch" McDonald beat him to be followed by Cully Dahlstrom 29 seconds later.

The Rossmen did all of their scoring in the second period. Herb Cain put them out in front on a solo rush, down the right wing boards, scoring on an angle shot, while Gino Rozzini was serving a penalty.

Three minutes later Bill Jennings started a scoring play on a three-man rush with Clapper and Cowley. Bill passed to "Dit" who shot right on Karakas but before Mike could clear Bill Cowley batted home the rebound.

Jack Shewchuk, Gino Rozzini and Armand Gaudreault, who have not been too successful acquiring points this season, all figured in what proved to be the winning goal. Jack grabbed the puck at the eligible side of the blue line and fired it in the general direction of Karakas. The shot was just enough off the beam to hit Rozzini's stick and deflect over to Gaudreault, who was uncovered on the far side of the net. And Armand flipped it home for the goal that might have put the Bruins over the "hump."

HOPEFUL—Sgt. Pete Petropoulos of New York, ex-pro ballplayer, shows how he holds ball for pitch. A wounded war hero, recuperating in Rhoads General Hospital, he finds altered bone structure of hand gives him better grip on ball. He's hoping for big league career, but leg wound may block that.

NEW LONDON, Ct., Feb. 14—Watch No. 21 tomorrow when the Coast Guard Academy five plays Geneva in the top half of a twin bill at Boston Garden. (Rider vs. Providence opens the card). That'll be Jim Anderson of Los Angeles, guard on Lt. Nels Nitchman's Coast Guard team.

Until Phil Chance joined the squad recently, Anderson was the lone upperclassman on the Coast Guard squad. He held the novices together in the team's victories over Trinity, Wesleyan and Brown.

Anderson attended Washington High School, L. A., and spent a year at USC before entering Coast Guard Academy. He played on the Trojans' freshman quintet and has been outstanding here. He's a splendid ball handler, a good shot and guards opponents smartly.

He's a fine performer on the gridiron, too. In 1943 he played all over the line and backfield before finding his proper niche at end. Last fall he was the starting right end in every game, sparkling defensively and as a pass receiver. Football men say he was the best end on the field in the Coast Guard-Army game, a game in which CG's talented Rocky Lynch broke his leg.

BLANKETED PAUL WALKER

It was Anderson who, in CG's first basket game Jan. 6, held Yale's Paul Walker to six points, but Bunny Warstler wasn't guarded quite so carefully and the veteran Elis won handily.

Anderson is the squad's second highest scorer, trailing only Tommy Wetmore, forward. The latter is a local boy, a grad of Bulkeley High School. Last year he attended Yale and started several games for Red Rolfe's varsity five. Before he went to Greenland and Iceland, Rolfe complimented Coach Nitchman on Wetmore's great improvement. The six-foot, 165-pounder recently scored 16 points against Brown, 18 against Army.

Other leading men on the CG squard are:

Frank Gaither, Jr., forward—from Beech Grove, Ind. Bigger than Wetmore, lacks his basketball savvy. Entered Academy from CG Prep at Groton, Ct.

Duane Ross, center — from Tulsa, Okla. Never played basketball until he started against Yale. Big boy, great defensively. Held Trinity's Red Faber scoreless for 36 minutes.

Tom Dorsey guard—New London boy, brother of Ensign Jack, '44 grad. Played on Brown varsity eleven in '43, caught TD pass from Doc Savage that gave Brown 34-31 win over CG. Last fall scored two touchdowns in CG's 20-0 win over Brown. Led eleven in scoring with 48 points. Improving constantly as scorer in basketball.

* * *

Spares on the squad are Lloyd Clark of Greenport, L. I., and Bob Johnson, Braintree, Mass., both of whom attended Northeastern U. before entering the Academy. Manager of the team is Julian P. Mendelsohn, graduate of Milton (Mass.) High . . . CG's record: 32 Yale 45, 56 Trinity 36, 28 Yale 44, 33 Brown 56, 51 Army 60, 42 Tufts 43, 45 Trinity 50, 38 Brown 32.

Quinn Reaches 75th Birthday

Bob Quinn was 75 today, and whether the Braves' septuagnarian liked it or not he was due for a busy afternoon. First, Manager Bob Coleman was to arrive at the park at noon to talk spring training. Second, the Boston Chapter of Baseball Writers was to call on the two Bobs for a news conference, and then were to present old Bob with a valentine, in keeping with the day.

Eddie Collins Takes Bride

Edward T. "Eddie" Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, and Emily Jane Hall of Brookline, were receiving the wishes of friends and relatives today following their marriage at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Collins' son, Rev. Paul D. Collins of Poultney, Vt., officiated at the ceremony. Collins, a widower, and his bride, a widow, left on a wedding trip to New York.

O'Dwyer's Hoop Probe To Go After 'Higher-Ups'

By JACK CONWAY

IT WAS NATURAL that Dist. Atty. Bill O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, who blew up Murder, Inc., should decide to hold a wide open probe of the basketball scandal that resulted in five Brooklyn College players accepting money from "fixers." The District Attorney recently received his discharge from the Army, where he attained the rank of brigadier-general.

As one who knows District Attorney O'Dwyer, I do not expect him to try to make "goats" of youthful, misguided college players who have been the dupes of unscrupulous gamblers. He will go after what police reporters like to call the "higher ups."

Dist. Atty. O'Dwyer

Max Kase, sports editor of the New York Journal-American, recently wrote in this newspaper that $300,000 is wagered on every basketball game played in the New York Garden. It is possible that Dist. Atty. O'Dwyer may reveal who handles this huge amount of money, and whether the bookmakers had anything to do with tampering with basketball stars.

O'Dwyer has frequently been mentioned as the Army officer who should be named to try Hitler and some of the other war criminals. He is fearless and one of the best lawyers in the country.

The district attorney does not intend to hold his investigation in "the secrecy of the grand jury room." He says the proceedings will be conducted in open court. All parties interested will receive an opportunity to tell their stories. One must admire O'Dwyer for this attitude. He is willing that persons who may be accused of wrongdoing step into court and tell their stories.

Broke Murder, Inc.

ONE NIGHT over the dinner table in New York, the district attorney told me how he broke Murder, Inc.

"I was convinced at the start of my investigation," said O'Dwyer, "that racketeers are yellow. I then proceeded to round them up. I found a private movie showing one killer at play with some of his pals at Miami Beach. I invited the killer to come to my office.

"'Who is your favorite movie star,' I asked.

"He named three or four of his favorites. I then told him I was going to show him a private film and I thought he would like it. He had previously denied any connection with gangsters.

"We then started to run off the Miami Beach film. The racket gang was shown basking in the sun, taking dips in the surf and tossing a medicine ball around. Their girl friends were with them and all were dolled out in flossy beach suits.

"Finally the film showed the killer playing with his pals.

"'That's me,' gasped the killer as he looked at the film.

"'That's enough,' I told the movie operator.

"'You can go,' I told the killer. 'Don't you want to arrest me?' he asked.

"'No,' I answered. 'I'll send for you when I want you. You can even take a trip to California if you wish to do so, but let me know where you're stopping.'

"A few days later the killer came to my office and sang. My system of turning gangsters loose usually caused them to talk things over with their families and then come in and try to save their own necks."

Couldn't Be Reached

O'Dwyer told me he never realized what power the underworld had in New York until he cracked Murder, Inc.

"There were numerous efforts made to slow me down," said the district attorney. "Every possible method was made to 'reach' me. It made me realize that men who fight for what they consider right have numerous obstacles to overcome. Crime has many friends in high places."

Basketball will benefit from the searching investigation. Questionable characters will be removed from the sport, and youngsters playing the game will no longer be annoyed by sure thing "fixers."

Basketball is popular with millions of people, and the game will be thoroughly cleansed. It will then go on to gain new heights in popularity.

Mulligan Seeks 12th Straight

"Irish" Jimmy Mulligan, of Lowell, one of the most popular fighters ever to come out of the Merrimac River Valley, will be gunning for his 12th straight victory Friday night when he meets "Tiger" Lou Jones in a return match on the All-Star boxing show staged by the Callahan A. C. at Mechanics Building.

Mulligan will be fighting the 10-round windup on the card that finds Pordena Smith of Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, battling Reddy Evens of Hackensack, N. J. Smith, the middleweight champion of the Maritime Provinces, reached the city yesterday.

In two other 10-round battles, huge Henry Jones of Philadelphia fights Billy Nitchy of Buffalo and Johnny Ryan of Detroit opposes Tony Petro of Hartford.

'By' Nelson Scores 65 To Beat McSpaden

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., master golfer, shot a sensational 65, seven strokes under par, here yesterday to defeat the favored Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., by five strokes in the 18-hole playoff of the New Orleans $5000 Open golf tournament. The finale was played on a wet course.

Talented Finneran Missing in Action

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Missing in action. That's the report from the War Department on one of the finest athletes in the Boston school ranks—a kid who, less than three years ago, was voted the outstanding athlete of the year by the student body of Roslindale High School.

That's the report that has reached the ears of Coach Fred Murray about Kevin Finneran, his crackerjack quarterback, pitcher, trackman and hockey center.

★ ★ ★

Finneran, captain of the 1941 football squad, will probably best be remembered by intown fans as the kid who ran wild against undefeated South Boston in the feature of the Braves Field season. He had led his club through to a commanding spot in the battle for the district title, played his heart out to stop the favored City Point eleven only to have his team pinned to defeat by a 102-yard run late in the game.

"He was truly a great all-round athlete at our school," says Coach Murray. "He was a grand football player—a good kicker and a soft passer. I met him in the school as a baseball player, coming highly recommended by Charlie T. FitzGerald at Latin, but he stood out more in every other sport with us."

Finneran, on top of his hockey and football, was a 440-yarder on the track team and a pitcher in baseball.

Has anybody got a hockey rink they won't be using afternoons this week? . . . Capt. Bob Lynch of Boston English will be playing his last basketball game for the Blue and Blue tomorrow afternoon at the Garden . . . Lynch will be joining the U. S. Army during the February vacation, thus missing the all-important Latin game . . . so he'll be out to have a field day against Dorchester High in the opener of the triple-header.

South Boston, having brought Hyde Park and Latin down to its own level in the Conference standings, will be facing B. C. High in the second Garden game . . . Southie, after losing to English, applied the knockout powder to undefeated streaks of the Parkers and the Purple . . . the nightcap on the North Station boards will be a Catholic League contest between St. Clement's of Somerville and Immaculate Conception of Revere.

Dave Krivitsky, captain of the Boston English High team, was to give up his place on the relay team in the Relay Carnival at the Armory this afternoon . . . he pulled a muscle doubling up last Saturday in the State Meet and the B. A. A. games . . . he'll need the rest for he intends to move into the Nationals in New York Feb. 24.

St. John's School basketball team has scored 1094 points in 18 games this season for an average of 60.8 against the opposition's 35.3.

Sexton and Numa went to a 30-minute draw last week in the March of Dimes program at the Garden.

Eagan Sees War Vet Next Heavy Champ

(This is the concluding article in a series on Lt. Col. Eddie Eagan, ex-amateur ring champion and newly named head of the New York boxing board.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

The law career on which Eddie Eagan, the Rhodes scholar-fighter, embarked at the end of the 1920's has been a most successful one. Dempsey and Tunney had steered him right. He now brings a new touch, a new courage and new clarity to boxing in New York, which means boxing throughout the world.

Eagan's first act of office, as chairman of the New York boxing board, will be to change the complicated old-style scoring system and substitute a simple yardstick which he has devised.

"The next heavyweight champion is somewhere in uniform today," the former Air Forces lieutenant colonel told us.

"He's taking full advantage of the great equipment the services now provide — infinitely better gear than in the other war, when we had to buy our own gloves.

"But don't expect him to replace Joe Louis as soon as the war is over. Joe is 30 now and should be able to throw those great punches of his until he's perhaps 35, though I don't predict that he'll last as champion quite that long.

"We'll see some great fights after this war. There will be another inter-Allied championship, and out of it will come new names, new faces, new-sized gates.

"We'll see a fight do better than the second Dempsey-Tunney sight, which grossed about $2,600,000. And before long we'll be having nationally televized matches, with people all over the country — and eventually the world—sitting in on the great show."

If one of Eddie's sons ever comes to him and wants to be a pro fighter, the "old man" will give a blessing "if the kid is good enough . . . or has the zeal—and if he has the zeal to fight I guess he won't listen to me.

"I had it, but I also had the best advisers a fighter ever had—Jack and Gene."

THE END

Honor Roll of Casualties

"They only the victory win . . . Who have dared for a high cause to suffer, resist, fight—if need be, to die." (Ruskin.)

The War Dept. announced today the names of 2534 soldiers killed in action in the European area, including 113 men with next of kin residing in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

In case of divergence between this list and information sent to next of kin, the last War Dept. telegram or letter to the next of kin is always final authority on the status of a soldier.

The Navy Dept. announced 196 casualties in the naval forces including dead, wounded and missing, among them 12 from Massachusetts and Rhode Island.
